

My Left Foot

Genre: Autobiography

Christy Brown was unable to move or speak due to cerebral palsy. Yet Brown's mother always looked for ways to prove her son's intelligence. His breakthrough came the day he learned to write with his foot.

Success Is a Mind-Set

Genre: Interview

When Ben Carson was growing up, he had poor grades and was labeled a troublemaker. Carson tells how he defied expectations and became a successful neurosurgeon. He insists, however, that success is only attainable for those who truly want it.
